

Barrenland Naturalist Tour

Peterson's Point Lake Lodge

Point Lake, Northwest Territories

An Authentic Barrenland Odyssey

Experience the majestic beauty of the Barrenlands on a naturalist-led journey that is as much about connection as it is about discovery. Traverse the rugged terrain where the treeline ends and the true Arctic begins. Immerse yourself in a landscape nearly as old as the Earth itself while watching for wildlife and birds that call the tundra home.

An Adventure for Every Explorer – Whether you're wanting active exploration, authentic northern stories or a restorative escape, our odyssey is designed to:

- Embrace the excitement of a remote, untouched wilderness accessible only by a scenic 75-minute floatplane flight.
- Discover "hidden gems" through the region's fascinating geology and rich human history—from ancient Indigenous peoples to legendary Arctic expeditions of Samuel Hearne and Sir John Franklin.
- Retreat to "rustic luxury" at our off-grid lodge, powered by solar and wind, where you can relax and bond with like-minded people in a small-group setting.

Witness Life on the Barrens – Enjoy a diversity of in-field experiences and presentations with tremendous teaching tools as well as participate in citizen science. From identifying unique plant life with expert Stephanie Yuill to spotting migrating caribou, grizzlies, and the rare Yellow-billed Loon, you will be immersed in a world-class nature experience.

What's Included:

- 1 night accommodation in Yellowknife
- Scenic return floatplane charter to Peterson's Point Lake Lodge.
